The 38th Annual
Virginia City Grand Prix
and the documentary movie
“Dust on the Comstock”

Virginia City, Nevada (April 21, 2009) – Hundreds of off-road motorcycle racers and thousands of fans are heading to the Comstock on April 25-26, 2009 for the 38th running of the Virginia City Grand Prix (VCGP).

As the long VCGP tradition continues, there will be an exciting addition to this year’s race. A feature length documentary movie, “Dust on the Comstock”, is being created by the Desert Inferno Racing Team to document this year’s race, the history of the event, and its very special setting. Desert Inferno, a 501(c)(3) non-profit youth mentorship program, has engaged Reno-based Bighorn Productions to collaborate in shooting and producing the movie.

As one of the largest and longest running events of its kind, the VCGP’s impressive status is seen in the devotion of participants who over the years have come from not only Nevada and surrounding states, but from states such as Washington, Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, Nebraska, Texas, Florida and Hawaii. There are also impressive stories of clubs and individuals who have participated for decades, including one racer who has competed in every event since the original was held in 1971. Last year nearly 800 riders entered the two-day event.

In addition to profiling the 2009 race, Dust on the Comstock will feature the event's long tradition and the history of Virginia City. On Friday evening (4/24/09) a special event will be held at the Delta Saloon as past champions and other special guest gather to discuss their careers and past VCGP races, with video being recorded for use in the movie. This event is open to the public and there will be time for autographs and photo-ops after the video session.
